Explanation

This circular is published for the purpose of making available to the public a list of oil and gas tests made in South Dakota before July 1, 1964.

To facilitate location of specific tests the wells in this circular are listed by county and in alphabetical order. The numbers in the second column of the alphabetical listing are the legal location, given in this order: Section, Township, and Range.

There are a total of 467 wells listed in this circular. Fall River County has had the largest number of oil and gas tests with a total of 90. Harding County is second with 74 and Custer County is third with 65 oil and gas tests. There are 27 counties which have not had an oil and gas test prior to July 1, 1964. These are: Brookings, Buffalo, Campbell, Clark, Clay, Davison, Deuel, Edmunds, Grant, Gregory, Hamlin, Hand, Hanson, Jerauld, Lake, Marshall, McCook, McPherson, Mellette, Minnehaha, Moody, Roberts, Sanborn, Spink, Sully, Todd, and Washabaugh.

The first well to have commercial production was drilled in 1954 in the Buffalo Field, Harding County. A year later, oil was discovered in commercial quantities in the Barker Dome Field, Custer County. These two fields now furnish the oil produced in South Dakota.

The South Dakota State Geological Survey serves as a depository for logs and samples from companies who drill for oil and gas in South Dakota. This information is placed on file, and if not confidential (a well may be kept confidential for six months after drilling has stopped), is available to the public.

A tabulation of production figures is shown in the following table, as of July 1, 1964.

Field	Number of Producing Wells	Oil (Bbls.)	Gas (mcf)
Buffalo Field	20	1,341,484	127,795
Barker Dome	4	69,031	Not measurable
